Professional Profile

Political and policy professional with solid experience within the European Parliament and EU institutions, combining human resources expertise with hands-on involvement in institutional processes, interinstitutional coordination and policy-related work.

Experienced in research, drafting, briefing and procedural support in parliamentary and administrative contexts, with a strong understanding of EU institutional functioning, committee work and the role of political groups. Used to working under political deadlines, adapting to fluctuating workloads and supporting decision-making processes.

Strongly committed to social justice, equality and the protection of vulnerable groups, with a background in trade-union representation, advocacy and grassroots engagement. Comfortable operating in politically driven environments and contributing to progressive policy objectives through rigorous analysis, clear written communication and teamwork.
